

Midweight Designer

Full Time

Background

We are seeking a driven and talented designer with a sense of social justice to join our creative team.

Bold is a small design studio with high standards. Based in Glasgow, we are the main social enterprise agency in Scotland offering a variety of services from large scale re-brands to smaller scale document design, high profile publications, UX design and web development. We cater predominantly to the needs of charities, social enterprises and ethical businesses and are driven by helping them to increase their social impact through better branding and good design.

The post offers fast-paced and varied design work for publications, digital, brand and campaign purposes. The successful candidate will possess a broad base of design skills along with a can-do attitude and the ability to confidently engage with clients and suppliers. Please take time to browse our portfolio and ensure you will fit in with the ethos and standards of the studio. www.bold-studio.co.uk

Your background:

- able to show us a compelling portfolio of your work across a range of clients
- experienced and thrive in a fast paced agency environment
- proficient in Adobe InDesign and experienced in designing engaging report layouts
- proficient in Illustrator, PhotoShop, XD and other Creative Cloud products
- interested in website UX and able to design websites
- experienced in conceiving and crafting brand elements and systems

Your outlook:

- design obsessed and motivated to put out great work
- design educated or trained in the field
- fully invested in our clients achieving their objectives and social aims
- happy to take an active interest in the social enterprise movement
- a good communicator and able to explain your design rationale to clients
- a good team player that seeks to muck in with your co-workers
- well organised and manage your own time and timesheets
- a self starter that will know how to make yourself useful at all times
- happy to share in non-design tasks around the studio
- take up any opportunity to top up the inspiration and skills tank
- creative, focused and bold

Benefits:

- Fulfilling and varied work (you won't be designing the telephone directory)
- Be part of a small, close knit, design driven team that is fun to be a part of
- Small but vibrant studio in Glasgow's Merchant City
- Possibilities for flexible working and working from home
- Working for a social enterprise you are part of a movement that benefits society
